SEWAGE BILL MAIN THEME AT MEETING

Good Program Follows Heated Discussion on Resolution

One of the most spirited meetings of the Fourth District Chambers of Commerce ever held convened at American Legion Hall, Tenth and Gaffey streets, San Pedro, last Thursday night, Torrance was well represented, and after the repeat business affairs confronting the meeting were disposed of rapidly, after which the Elks' male quartette sang several selections and were loudly applauded.

Harbor Engineer Ludlow was introduced and gave an interesting illustrated lecture on the development of the San Pedro Harbor. Every nook and corner, buildings, docking space and historic landmarks were shown on the screen. Astonishing tabulation of figures concerning the receiving and exportation of shipping were also featured and proved pleasant surprises to the audience.

During the business session, heated discussions developed around a resolution proposed to urge the Governor to sign bill No. 196 regulating the sewage in small cities outside of Los Angeles. Several delegates admitted they had not read the bill but as long as Hugh Pomeroy had sponsored its framing and passage they had confidence that the Governor should sign. Secretary Gadeky vigorously opposed the resolution on the grounds that no one knew what the bill was in intricate form and even though it had passed both houses of the legislature, this was no reason for endorsement by this association until they could vote upon it intelligently.

A roll call of delegates authorized a committee to be appointed to meet with Los Angeles engineers and smaller city delegates at Compton to consider the bill in detail. It is said that later information divulged the fact that the bill under discussion at the meeting was 191 and not 190 at all.

The next meeting will be held in Venice, June 13.

MOVE INTO NEW OFFICE

J. C. Scully and Lewis Cox, two of the real estate dealers to enter Torrance recently, moved into their new office specially built for them on El Prado street, joining the city hall building, this week.

Mr. Cox, who has been in the city for some time, was highly elated when the building was finished. He had been waiting patiently for a long time and even went so far as to get in and help the carpenters and painters finish it in order to have the office ready for business and before J. C. Scully, his partner, who is now in Oklahoma, gets back to Torrance.

Here's a good beauty secret: Keeping your nose out of other people's business prevents it from getting flat.

LAWN SOCIAL

The lawn social held Tuesday afternoon by the ladies of the M. E. church on the Woodington lawn, 2019 Arlington avenue, was greatly enjoyed. About seventy ladies and lots of kiddies enjoyed the refreshments served, after the excellent program presented by the children.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE SNOW?

What looked like snow, but wasn't, caused many people to stop in front of the new building now being finished for "Hardware" Reeve, on Sartori street, this week. In laying the red cement floor in the lobby of the building, sand was purchased at Redondo and after it was finished the alkali and salt in the sand worked itself out and caused the little white flakes that looked like snow, to come to the surface. Much curiosity was relieved after the snow was inspected.

IRONTON CAFE CHANGES HANDS

Mrs. Katherine Mol, of Vista Highlands, has purchased the Ironton Cafe, and the business will be managed by Mrs. Mol personally.

A motor trip through the beautiful orange groves of Redlands and Riverside, and the cherry orchards in the Yucaipa Valley was greatly enjoyed Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. W. Woodington of Arlington avenue.

HOUSE OF PARR VALUES MOVES

George D. Parr, originator and proprietor of the "House of Parr Values," has moved into his new house in the Brooks building, leaving the old location in the Auditorium building to Babcock & Jones, who will occupy the space left vacant by Mr. Parr.

Mr. Parr has superintended the work of placing the fixtures in his new home and will add new stock to his jewelry line as well as a full and complete stock of high-grade greeting cards. He will dedicate his new store by selling gifts to the graduates at prices that save you money. A list of the articles and prices will be found on another page of this issue.

Recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brennan of Portola avenue were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sleeper of Riverside.

Several stripped cars have been found in or near Torrance in the past few days. When found Tuesday morning by Officer E. E. Stanley, the only thing left of the Ford stolen from Arthur Lindegren of San Pedro, was the engine block and the body of the car.
